LOWELL VOTERS SWING INTO NEW GOVERNMENTAL CHANNEL

Special Election Defeats Present Commission Charter—New Government Will Become Operative in January—Charter Features

Lowell voters have repudiated the commission form of government. The new city charter was adopted yesterday by a margin of 631 votes, the totals being as follows: Yes, 8534; no, 7903. The new charter will go into effect on January next.

Six of the nine wards of the city voted in favor of the change.

The voters of wards 2, 4 and 5 declared against the new form of government by substantial margins.

Thirteen precincts out of 28 voted "No."

Ward 8 cast the largest vote in favor of the new plan, 1452 ballots being counted there approving the charter. The margin here was 517 over the "No" vote. Safe margins for the charter were recorded by the ballot counters in wards 1, 3, 6, 7 and 9.

Just 16,473 voters went to the polls out of an eligible list of 32,000. The vote is considered fair for a special election, and a good many more turned out than was the case a week ago, when the gas plant purchase move was defeated.

On Nov. 22 the city primaries will be held when candidates for mayor, municipal council and school committee will be chosen.

Lowell Girls Aid Simmons College Endowment Fund

This is pledge week at Simmons college, Boston, and the local girls in the accompanying picture are making every possible effort to enable their college to win the $300,000 promised by the general education board when their fund reaches $700,000. It is now at the $260,000 mark.

Efforts ranging all the way from growing mushrooms to selling pencils on the streets of Boston have contributed their share to what the undergraduates are doing. Growing vegetables in the college greenhouse, serving Sunday morning breakfasts to their neighbors, banding together to sell candy in Boston's leading hotels, are only a few of the ingenious devices which the Simmons undergraduates are employing during pledge week. Leaders in these efforts are the girls in the accompanying picture.

The campaign for $1,000,000 is being conducted on the platform "Efficient Womanhood in Home and Business," and if ingenious ideas and energy can accomplish anything, Simmons undergraduates should add a very large amount to the big fund.

STRIKE MAY INVOLVE INSURANCE COMPANIES OTHER ORGANIZATIONS

CHICAGO, Oct. 19. (By the Associated Press)—Developments in the possibility of a strike order in others of the standard labor organizations, beside the five train service bodies, were seen today in a call for assembling tomorrow of the conference committee of 100 of the railway employees department, American Federation of Labor. This committee has full power to order a strike of the six shop crafts.

No final action was expected, however, before Friday, according to H. M. Jewell, president of the department.

PREPARING FOR THE BIG STRIKE

Chamber of Commerce Takes Steps to Protect Local Transportation

Will Ascertain Amount of Flour and Potatoes in Storage Here

Gets Line on Number of Trucks Available in Case of Tieup

In view of the nation-wide railroad strike the Lowell chamber of commerce is taking steps to protect Lowell's transportation system. The organization is also co-operating with the state special commission on the necessities of life in ascertaining the amount of flour and potatoes on hand in warehouses and wholesale stores in this city.

In the transportation problem, the chamber is gathering information from trucking concerns and others in the city, as to the number of trucks available in case of a railroad tieup. This transportation survey will effect, if local business men co-operate, a complete list of trucks available for use in case of a strike with the size and capacity of each truck and whether covered or not. Questions will be asked as to how many will be available in an emergency, whether full time, part time or how many hours daily.

In conjunction with this investigation of the trucking facilities here, which would have to handle Lowell's transportation both of food necessities and other articles, statistics will be gathered on the amount of gasoline on hand in oil storage tanks here. This information will be secured from the various oil companies which have stations in Lowell.

With a railroad strike threatened, the scarcity of a gasoline supply in some sections of the country would perhaps necessitate the restricting of its use by pleasure vehicles. Whether such a step is or would be necessary in this vicinity cannot be stated at this time.

JUDGE PICKMAN PLEASSED

Sun Congratulated on Its Pioneer Work For Change of Charter

Judge Pickman was among the large number who congratulated the Sun upon the success of its work in the movement for a new city charter. Judge Pickman in referring to the Sun's campaign today, said: "I most heartily congratulate the Sun upon its splendid work in favor of the new charter. Ever since it appeared that the present charter had some very radical defects and that it did not permit of efficient or representative government, I have noticed that the Sun was the leading champion of the cause of charter reform, and that it advocated the right principles of city government, which I believe are embodied in the present charter. The new charter is not perfect in every detail, and indeed it can hardly be expected that every feature will give satisfaction, but I am convinced that it is fundamentally right, and that it will give us a more representative and a more efficient city government. I expect a very marked improvement in the conduct of our municipal affairs, as a result of the system and the provision for expert direction laid down in this new charter. I believe the people want better government and I believe they will embrace the opportunities offered in this charter to send their best representatives to the council and to show good judgment in supporting the new charter."

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel. Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative. No gripping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action. If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime. The same take them every night just to keep right. Try them. 15c and 30c Adv.

WEAK BLOOD IS A REAL BARRIER

Growing Children Often Need Gude's Pepto-Mangan

Some children grow too quickly—it saps their strength. They lapse into careless, desultory habits, or develop a shrinking attitude. Their faces look pinched. The blood becomes overtaxed by too rapid growth, and poisons from the system take the place of strength-giving red corpuscles in the blood. Red corpuscles are those little red particles that swim in blood and give it its color. Gradually that child loses interest in its play. Poor blood needs the building that the iron in Gude's Pepto-Mangan gives to weakened blood. Gude's Pepto-Mangan enriches the blood by increasing the number of red corpuscles, and restores the blood by driving out the poisons. When the revived blood goes to work, the appetite becomes what a growing child's should be. Your druggist has Gude's Pepto-Mangan in liquid or tablet form. The name "Gude's Pepto-Mangan" is on every package.—Adv.

OUCH! BACKACHE! RUB LUMBAGO OR STIFFNESS AWAY

Rub pain from back with small trial bottle of old "St. Jacobs Oil."

When your back is sore and lame or injured, sprained, or rheumatism has you stiffened up, don't suffer! Rub a small trial bottle of old, honest St. Jacobs Oil at any drug store, your little in your hand and rub it right on your aching back, and by the time you count fifty, the soreness and lameness is gone. Don't stay crippled! This soothing, penetrating oil is to be used only once. It takes the pain right out and ends the misery. It is a cure for all aches, pains, rheumatism, and neuralgia.

DYED HER BLOUSE SKIRT AND A COAT

Every package of "Diamond Dye" contains directions for coloring any an an dye or tint her worn, shabby sweaters, shirts, waists, chemises, dresses, blouses, draperies, hangings, everything over of the never dyed before. Buy "Diamond Dye" in no other kind. It is perfect. Dyeing is so easy, because Diamond Dye is so "Knausht" that it goes right into the material and dyes it. It is wool or silk, or cotton, or linen, cotton or mixed goods—it is then, cotton or mixed goods.—Adv.

only honest and capable men for public office. I again congratulate the Sun on its first for a new charter, conducted at first single-handed and subsequently in the face of formidable opposition. In slavery days the vast majority said it was a hopeless case to attempt to abolish slavery, but a few men of courage stood in advocacy of freedom for the slaves, and they eventually won. So it was in the present case. Where better city government is the issue, had we thrown up our hands and said it was hopeless to seek any improvement, matters would have become worse instead of better. Now we are on the road to success, and I believe the Sun was largely instrumental in bringing about the desired change."

TIPS ON HOW TO TALK IN PUBLIC

During his address entitled "How 10,000 Business Men Have Acquired Self-Confidence and the Ability to Talk in Public," Dale Carnegie, F.R.G.S. of New York, told his hearers that public speaking gave a man courage, and thus affected for the better all pursuits of a man's life. Mr. Carnegie spoke at the Y.M.C.A. last night and his talk which served as an opening of the class in public speaking, beginning at the Y.M.C.A. next Monday night. The speaker was enjoyed by an audience of men, both young and old.

Mr. Carnegie is a well known authority in this work, having written many books in regard to his courses, and having turned out many successful speakers. With anecdotes of many men who had been public speaking, but who had after attending his course for a few weeks, come to like it and had become successful public speakers. Mr. Carnegie held the attention of his auditors for more than an hour. Persons in the audience were called upon to say a few words, by Mr. Carnegie after he had finished his talk.

The city election will be held Dec. 13 and the officers chosen then will constitute the first government under the new charter, which takes effect the first Monday in January. These men will choose the various department heads to administer the city's affairs. As a result of the vote yesterday, Commissioners George E. Marchand and Dennis A. Murphy will be deprived of a year in office.

The returns from yesterday's balloting were announced shortly after 7 o'clock. Precinct 1 of ward 1 was the first to report.

The committee responsible for drawing up the new city charter was composed of Hon. James B. Case, chairman; Abel R. Campbell, later chosen secretary; Royal K. Dexter, Henry F. Doran, John C. Farrington, George M. Harrigan, J. C. Manseau, Albert D. Milliken, Hon. James E. O'Donnell, Arthur T. Safford, Timothy P. O'Rourke, John F. Sawyer, Charles D. Slattery, Harry Swann and Louis P. Tureolis. The charter was accepted by the legislature and yesterday's special election means that the people of Lowell are willing to try it.

New Charter Features

Yesterday's vote adopting the new charter provides for a city government as follows: Mayor, who will have the power of nominating the heads of departments subject to confirmation by the council, with the exception of city clerk, treasurer and auditor, who will be elected by the council without interference by the mayor. The mayor can suspend the heads of the departments, subject to approval by the council. But the council can remove any head of a department in spite of the mayor. There will be nine aldermen, one elected by each ward, and six elected at large, and there will be nine members of the school board, all elected at large.

The mayor has absolute power to appoint and remove the city solicitor without action by the city council. The department employees, with the exceptions of the superintendents, will not be disturbed. The city laborers, like the other subordinate employees, will be subject to civil service regulations, as at present, and all reports to the effect that such employees will be thrown out are mere fabrications.

CLOSED CAR WEEK

New Feature for Lowell Automobile Merchants' Asso.

On Monday next will be inaugurated the first closed car week ever held in this city, with each dealer's showroom as the headquarters for his particular car under the auspices of the Automobile Merchants' Association with its president, Geo. R. Dana as co-operating director, and Louis Studley as publicity chairman.

That this opportunity to view the latest models in enclosed cars of all leading makes will be appreciated by the public is to be expected when the growing popularity of closed cars is considered and the fact that practically every manufacturer is producing more closed cars than open ones per year to satisfy the demand for comfort and protection from the weather while motoring.

The association will start their closed car campaign with a group advertisement containing the names of the members and their cars on Saturday in the Sun which will be supplemented by advertisements in the other local papers during the week. In addition to the publicity efforts of the individual dealers to create interest in their separate cars by advertising at the same time.

Adventures of The Twins

A LETTER

SILVER-WING HEARD ONE OF THE GNOMES

"Say, kiddies," called Cap'n Penny-winkle, galloping up on Curly in a great hurry. "Did you see a bag of gold?"

"No, sir," said Nick. "I didn't, did you, Nancy?"

But Nancy hadn't either. "Did somebody lose it?" she asked. "Well, not exactly," answered the fairyman, reaching into his pocket and pulling out a letter. "But the Fairy Queen sent me this, and thought I'd ask you." He unfolded the letter and handed it over. "Read it," he nodded.

Now the Twins were not very far from school. Indeed, they had only got to the park where it said, "There has been a big hunt on the hill." But the letter was written in fairy language, so of course it was quite easy to read. Nancy read it out loud. It went like this:

"Dear Captain Pennywinkle, 'The gnomes have dug a lot of gold out of one of my mountains and put it into a bag and run off with it. My fairy helpers have searched and searched in every one of my Nine Hundred and Ninety Nine Kingdoms, and all over the country of the gnomes, but they always come home empty-handed. The other day, however, Silver-Wing, flying through the forest, overheard one of the gnomes say that they had buried it at the foot of the rainbow.

"We looked under one end of the rainbow, but the other end goes down under the ocean waves. Will you kindly ask the Wiggles people if they have seen it. Perhaps Nancy and Nick could find it, as they were smart enough to find my pink pearl."

"Hoping you may have good news for me, I am

Your friend,

"THE FAIRY QUEEN."

"Of course, we'll find it, won't we, Nick," said Nancy quickly.

License Board Hears Complaint of Alleged Prohibition Law Violations Against Adams Street Stockkeeper

George Paulos, proprietor of a variety store at 373 Adams street, came today near losing his permit at the regular meeting of the license commission last night. Sergeant M. H. Winn appeared before the board to voice a complaint against Paulos, alleging he had violated the prohibition laws. Upon promise to live up to the law in the future the commission granted him another opportunity.

The billiards and pool permit in a room in a central street was surrendered and canceled at the proprietor's own request. Mr. Carr is installing a restaurant in the site formerly occupied by the pool room. The transfer of the second hand clothing store of Louis J. Ragalsky from 333 Middlesex to 7 Thonadike street was granted. The following routine permits were also allowed: Common victualler, W. Pickett, 750 Lakeview avenue, express, Fearless Trucking company, 100 Lawrence street; hawker and peddler, Samuel Hovey, North Billerica; public amusement for dancing, Merrimack hall and Grafton hall, Lodge 133, International Association of Machinists.

Science Can Now End Corns

Such Troubles Are Out of Date—Millions Know This Now

A famous expert, years ago, solved the whole corn problem.

The method is Blue-jay—the plaster or the liquid. It stops pain instantly. Soon the whole corn gently loosens and comes out.

Now folks who pare or pad corns do themselves injustice. So do users of old methods, harsh and crude.

Blue-jay is modern. It is approved by authorities. It is easy, simple, quick and sure.

Just apply it and forget it, and watch what becomes of the corn. After that, you will never let a corn pain twice.

CONDITIONS IN RUSSIA

Interesting Story of Wages and Prices by A. P. Correspondent

Note: Correspondents of The Associated Press who were admitted to Russia with the American relief workers found the economic conditions there of great interest. The bars against free trading had been removed by the Lenin government and the people were again allowed to buy and sell without danger of confiscation. But wages in Russia's depreciated currency were fantastic.

This condition is described in the following article written by one of the men sent into Russia and who has previously reported by cable the famine situation.

MOSCOW. (By A staff correspondent of the Associated Press.)—Russia's struggle to recover economic normalcy overshadows all political considerations and is the one subject which is commanding the attention of Russians of all parties and sects.

The contention of the Bolsheviks that food and manufactured articles had been hoarded has been justified to a certain extent by the sudden appearance upon the markets of nearly all kinds of foodstuffs and notions.

Market stalls and small shops opened speedily after the declaration of free trade in domestic commerce. Needles, shoes, thread, nails, toilet articles, cloth, pins, tinned milk, Australian corned beef, English bottled pickles, pressed caviar, sugar, cheese, tea, coffee, biscuits and various household articles and furniture made their appearance suddenly.

Prices are so high that only the wealthy, as wealth goes in Russia today, can buy extensively. But the market folks do such a lively business that the Bolshevik claim about extensive hoarding of money, foreign as well as Russian, is also supported to a considerable extent.

Larger shops have not opened extensively in the center of Moscow and the small hatters, shoemakers and clothiers have chiefly confined their activities to various street markets and bazaars. As the weeks of free trade drag on, merchants are becoming more secure in their positions and have apparently lost all fear that Soviet government there open the markets for the purpose of drawing goods out of hiding and confiscating them.

In one of the worst famine centers on the Volga the Associated Press correspondent saw hungry refugees starving within sight of markets where bread, meat and all sorts of food were displayed in great quantities for sale at prices entirely beyond the reach of the average Russian peasant.

"Why don't you seize the food and feed these people?" the correspondent asked a provincial governor who was not able to obtain enough food to give 40,000 orphans a scanty ration.

"That would only make food scarcer," the governor replied. "It would drive all the supplies back under cover and the well-to-do would not be able to buy. Consequently they would have to depend on the government rations and make the situation worse. When money and manufactured articles can be exchanged legally for food the peasants bring their supplies into the markets and the burden which the government has in collecting food is lessened."

Russians who are in the worst plight are the formerly well-to-do who have not found employment under the Soviet government. Employees of the government all get some food. Consequently all departments are greatly overstocked and the clamor for positions is deafening. Salaries are small and the scale is so varied that it is impossible to learn what the standard is. But employees work for food rather than money. One woman clerk in the foreign office told the correspondent that she receives 700 rubles a month. A soldier employed as guard at a government guest house says his wage is only 1000 rubles a month with an allowance of one pound of black bread, two lumps of sugar and a limited amount of rice and cassia, or rough meal made from millet and used by the Russians as a sort of breakfast food. With bread selling at prices ranging from 3000 to 7000 rubles a pound, according to quality, these salaries are ridiculous.

Workmen in some of the automobile factories are reported to receive from 1,000,000 to 1,500,000 rubles a month. Others are paid less paper money and receive perquisites in the way of manufactured products, food, rent, etc. So, in all the maze of figures, it is impossible to reach any average wage or salary.

Under the revised economic plan, fares must be paid on railways and street cars. Charges are also to be made for light, telephones, telegraph and postage. Free rent is also disappearing and renters are to be required to keep up repairs at their own expense under the direction of house committees.

These changes are increasing the difficulties of persons without incomes and forcing gentle folks into the street markets with their remaining furs, jewelry, silverware, china, linen and clothing. However, most of the old-time aristocracy has long ago learned the ways of trade and it is not too hard to stand in the streets and barter away one's personal effects.

Many of the former members of the leisure classes have taken very naturally to changed conditions and know in for trading on a strictly commercial basis. The only two restaurants in Moscow where satisfactory meals are served are staffed by cultured women who speak German and French as fluently as Russian and receive diners with all the courtesy found in better-class drawing rooms. The manager of one of these restaurants is the wife of an officer high in the Bolshevik Red army who was formerly a colonel in the Imperial army. Her husband's salary is wholly inadequate to support her two children and aged parents, so she worked for the government until the new economic policy made it possible for her to enter business of a more remunerative sort.

Krassine and other economic experts who are working out the new trade policy make it plain that both retailers and wholesalers are free to engage in domestic trade without government interference. However, all exporting and importing are to be through government channels and, as the government is not inclined to expend large sums of money for purchases abroad, it is difficult to see where Russian merchants are to get foreign articles after the small stocks which have been uncovered are exhausted.

Krassine hopes to get foreign credits through a consortium which will enable Russia to buy on long time or to exchange raw materials for manufactured articles. But such negotiations are slow and uncertain and the broken-down railways make it impossible to assemble raw materials speedily. Consequently it is difficult to understand the optimism of Bolshevik leaders who say they believe England will supply Russian markets very shortly with the great tea surplus which is burdening London dealers. They are equally optimistic about South American coffee, American and Canadian grain and other food products.

When the correspondent asked Krassine if he thought Russia's repudiation of foreign debts and confiscation of the property of foreigners in Russia would be much encouragement to capitalists or foreign governments to make loans to the Soviet government, he replied: "That's what always happens in revolutions!"

"It didn't happen in Germany."

"But Germany didn't really have a revolution," Krassine retorted.

BRIAND PUTS TRIP TO U. S. UP TO CHAMBER

PARIS, Oct. 19.—(By the Associated Press)—The explicit announcement by Premier Briand to the chamber of deputies yesterday that he required a majority in the chamber as a condition of his going to Washington, is regarded in political circles as cutting a great deal of ground from under the opposition.

The debate on the interpellations of the government was resumed this afternoon.

WOMAN SUES FOR $1,000,000

BURLINGTON, Vt., Oct. 19.—Suit for $1,000,000 against Lorenzo M. Woodhouse, president of the Merchants National bank of this city, and his wife was brought by their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Charles D. Woodhouse, in the county court yesterday. The plaintiff charges alienation of the affections of her husband, alleging that his parents tried to convince him that the marriage should be annulled. She was married in September, 1918.

A means of cooling the air and increasing its humidity is provided by a new electric fan attachment.

BOVININE

For all ages and conditions, a splendid food tonic.

TIRE men and women need Bovinine. It is not merely a tonic, but a food tonic, adding to daily food. That feeling of exhaustion is usually due to under-nourishment.

Take milk, for example—you may drink it regularly without gaining strength or nourishment from it. The tissue building part of milk (casein) often passes through the system without being absorbed into the tissues.

Bovinine added to a glass of milk makes food which even invalids and babies digest and thrive on.

NEW FIRE DEPARTMENT

East Chelmsford to Have Real Apparatus, Fire Numbers, and Everything

East Chelmsford is going to have a brand new fire department all its own, with a real set of fire-fighting apparatus, a crackling good stream of the wake-up kind, district fire numbers and everything, if the plans now being rapidly pushed to completion carry through. You have to join the fire department now out in the east part of Chelmsford or you have no real social standing. Everybody is asking, "Who will join next?" so enthusiastic are the men who are planning for the success of the new fire department. The plan of the citizens leading the movement is noteworthy.

First, they want to promote a spirit of good fellowship and have a lot of interesting social events during the winter months.

Second, they want to place East Chelmsford on the map as one of the most delightful little villages in which to live, whether you work there or in Lowell. As a matter of fact, a lot of people working in this city, commute right home every night. You see, Gorham street runs right out to East Chelmsford.

Third, they want to make the insurance companies lower the rates in the town. They believe a fire company would actually save money.

With eight regular members of the new department, all in good standing, and a long list of volunteer firemen, good fighters and ready for the bell, East Chelmsford folks need no longer worry about how to get out of their homes at midnight or any other time, when fire starts. The new firemen will be right on the job with chemicals, ladders and a fire net, if necessary, and there won't be any configurations if the alarm comes in with any kind of speed.

The Sun learns today that Henry G. Quinn, well known Gorham street coal dealer, is the energetic leader of the new fire forces. His appointment as chief has been cordially received, and the opinion seems to be unanimous that with Mr. Quinn leading the fire-fighting forces, there will be no more worn-out apparatus, no faulty alarms and no amateurs on the important job. That is why folks living in the east part of the town are sleeping soundly every night.

To go down the list of firemen or volunteer firemen, now listed on the company's rolls, would be to name nearly everybody of local prominence in East Chelmsford. For instance, there is John T. Kelley of the Bay State car barns. He's on night duty there, and a handy man for night fires; then near the top of the roll comes the name of Henry Devine, state policeman; Charles Fishback, farmer; John Dix, well known truckman; Roger Foster, machinist; Francis Gorman, musician; John Shinkins, "Doc" French, Vincent McCann, the carpenter; Earl Christensen, William Meagher, expert chauffeur; James Buckley, Brother McCann, Ed Buckley, plumber, and last but not least, John T. Cassidy, janitor.

The old hand chemical apparatus, holding 50 gallons will be in the discard when the new big tank is mounted on a Ford chassis. That will fight most any fire if the firemen get around anywhere on time.

They have started a collection paper right away for the new stream (hose and alarm). The new head of the fire company is right on Gorham street.

Want to know how to get there? Well, just hit Gorham street in Lowell and keep right on down that street until you come to the firehouse, for Gorham runs straight to East Chelmsford and right through the town besides and thence to Boston.

The man who was to use the old school on the Carlisle road, but that was quickly abandoned when a fine little building was found unused right in the center of the town. Considerable paint has been used, and some cement platforms and door sills made under instructions of Chief Quinn, with a good entrance wide enough to make an easy exit from the building. One side of the building had to be taken out to make the door wide enough for the chemical.

Columbus day the "painters" got busy and made the new headquarters all it should be. Some bright paint, some brushes, and all put in a lot of work.

Henry Gonzales, Lowell sportsman, is a warm supporter of the new fire company, although he isn't a member. He has been doing all he can to promote the interests of the town who want to secure more adequate fire protection for their East Chelmsford homes.

The "fire commission" in charge of the new arrangement includes Henry Devine, Charles Finnich and A. Samuel Gustafson. They, of course, saw that Brother Quinn got the big job but as chief, and the choice is a most popular one. At present there are eight active members, not counting, of course, the volunteers always present when the fire alarm sounds. The active membership may be increased later.

Probably an account of the activities of the new department would not be complete if The Sun failed to mention the fine work put in (with money, too) by such loyal citizens and faithful supporters of the fire department.

as George L. Hutton, Arthur Suttle, Charles Judge, Herbert Suttle, "Doc" Collins, Mr. Pateneau, Henry Sheed, Charles Devine and the McNulty brothers. Mr. Hutton has given plenty of money and time, and the others, too, in helping the committee get the department headquarters into some kind of shape for future activities in the fire protection line as well as social work.

Of course the big thing wanted by East Chelmsford folks is a lower insurance rate. They say they will get it if they can present facts in fire protection figures to the big men who control the placing of insurance in country districts.

Incidentally it might be mentioned, that Chief Henry Quinn is no imitation fire-fighter. He is a real fire-fighter. When Mr. Quinn was at Camp Devens he was a member of the fire-fighting force there, and a better fireman never worked to prevent that big camp from being swept by fires that started frequently and threatened to engulf the great building area. Chief Quinn's work at Devens will long be remembered.

LOWELL DELEGATES AT POLICE CONVENTION

Six duly elected delegates and several other members of the Lowell police force are in Fall River today attending the annual state convention of the Massachusetts Police association. The representatives of the local branch of the organization, Sergt. Hugh Maguire, Officers Clyde Aldrich, Morris Shapiro, James Cassidine, Jerome Cullen and Timothy O'Connor, left early this morning. They will not return until tomorrow night, the convention being a two day affair. A number of other police officers went to the convention city from Lowell, some of them to return tonight and others to stay both days. Officers Edward P. Flanagan, now a member of the executive committee, is a candidate for re-election and it is expected he will be returned a winner. The local delegation will make a strong bid to bring the convention to this city next year.

FIGHT IN CONGRESS SHEDS NEW LIGHT ON REAPPORTIONMENT

No Change Obligatory Till 1928 Despite Fixed Custom—States Will Hold Present Membership Till the Reapportionment Bill Is Passed

Special to The Sun
WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 19.—No state need lose a member of congress or have one added to its quota for at least 2 years, if the terms of the constitution regarding a census and reapportionment are strictly complied with by congress instead of following the customs and traditions of more than a century.

Maine need not be reduced to four, Massachusetts need not add one to its number, or Connecticut raise its number of representatives from five to six, until 1928 and yet hold strictly to the letter of the law if congress chooses to delay action.

There is nothing to prevent congress from authorizing the taking of a new census this year; there is nothing to prevent congress from delaying action on reapportionment until after the elections of 1922, 1924, 1926 and 1928 have been held.

Under these circumstances, and until after a reapportionment bill has been passed by the senate and house, and become a law, every state in the Union will hold its present districts and its same representation in congress and the electoral college.

The constitution provides that a census shall be taken "within" every ten years, but does not fix the exact period within that decade when it shall be done. It makes no mention of the period which must or must not elapse, after the census, or enumeration, as it is referred to in the constitution, is made before the reapportionment of congressional representation shall be made. All is left to the discretion of congress, except it must occur within the prescribed ten years.

Probably no section of the constitution is so generally misunderstood as the one dealing with the census and reapportionment. The custom of taking the census at the close of each ten year period, and following it quickly by a reapportionment of representation has been so closely adhered to in past years, that it has come to be regarded as a part of the constitution. But it is possible for congress to call for a census at any time "within" the ten years following the last previous enumeration. This last census bears the official date of January 1st, 1920 thus giving congress the right to call for another at any moment it sees fit to do so, or it may delay such action until December 31st, 1928 if it so desires.

In the case of reapportionment of congressional representation congress has similar freedom. It may act immediately thereafter or may delay such action until the last day of December, 1928, thus keeping within the ten year limitation.

These are facts easily substantiated by the bureau of census, the best informed constitutional lawyers in congress, and best of all, by studying the on the piano by his sister. Both the children of Rev. F. A. Perron, pastor of the French Baptist mission.

After the business session, an address was given by Rev. G. P. Beecher, pastor of the First Baptist church of Lawrence, on the theme, "Helping the Stranger to Get the American Point of View." He said in part: "This is something for each of us to do as good American citizens. The nations of the world are more closely drawn together now than ever before. In the inter-communication of distant peoples there is a call to stress the American ideals. We have much to give to other peoples. The pilgrim fathers, who landed at Plymouth, were of different blood from the adventurers who settled Central and South America. As we received from them, it is our duty to pass on to others. Over thirty millions of immigrants have come to us to begin a new life among us. They bring a large inheritance of intellect and natural ability. Many of them and their children have attained high positions in our communities. It is not strange that many of them hold to old-world ideas. Many of us hold to the ideas of former generations. America was discovered by Columbus in 1492. But America is never really discovered until the true American spirit and its ideals are found. A spirit of I-don't-care on our part is as great a danger as any intermixture of old-world ideas of living. Ability to mix is a source of power to people as to individuals. A little help given to the incoming foreigner will bear rich fruit. Instruction is appreciated, easily given, quickly assimilated."

Eat Heartily Without Dread

Eat Anything You Like and Don't Worry—Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Help Ease Stomach, Heaving, Gas and Acid Conditions Due to Indigestion

Simply Chew a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet After Meals—They Taste Good

No matter what you eat or drink, even though it be just a glass of sweet milk, the stomach may rebel and sour almost immediately. In such cases one or two Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets furnish the alkaline effect to offset the acid condition. Quite often the stomach may be overcrowded with partially digested food.

A cold bottle of beverage at such times may add to the difficulty and there is gasiness, a bilious taste, and other distresses due to indigestion. Travelers may save themselves much of the discomfort of wayside eating by having a box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets with them as they can be had in almost any drug store throughout the U. S. and Canada.—Adv.

To Discuss Irish Affairs in Commons

LONDON, Oct. 19.—Irish affairs will probably be discussed in the house of commons next Tuesday, through the declared willingness of the government to allot one day to the Irish question, if the house should express a general desire for such a discussion. Charles Curtis Craig, representative for South Antrim, declared in the house yesterday that James Craig, the Ulster premier, and other Belfast ministers had asked him to press the government to give an opportunity to consider the position of Ulster. He said he wished especially to take up the delay encountered in handing over the administrative departments of the Ulster government to the new Belfast parliament.

SOAPY water—lather—the splashing from tub, shower or spray—they make smooth, washable bathroom walls a necessity.

Barreled Sunlight is a white paint made by a special process which produces a lustrous, even finish that can be washed like tile. It costs less than enamel, requires fewer coats and remains white longer.

Anyone can apply Barreled Sunlight. It flows readily and leaves no brush marks. For interior woodwork throughout the house it has all the advantages and none of the disadvantages of an enamel. It is easy to keep clean yet does not produce that hard high gloss so glaring to the eyes.

PRES. HARDING AT YORKTOWN, VA.

Pronounces Doctrine of Enduring Friendship Between U. S. and Britain

Stands on Step Where Cornwallis Laid Down His Sword in 1781

Declares Future Breach of Our Friendly Relations "Unthinkable"

YORKTOWN, Va., Oct. 13.—A doctrine of enduring friendship between the United States and Great Britain was pronounced by President Harding today at a ceremony commemorating the final surrender of the British expeditionary forces here to the revolutionary army of Washington.

Surrounded by high officials of his administration and standing within sight of the spot where Cornwallis laid down his sword in 1781, the president declared in deliberately chosen words a sentiment of peaceful relationship between the two great English-speaking nations for all time to come. That either should ever again lift the sword against the other, he said, must be "unthinkable."

"In the trusteeship of preserving civilization," he continued, "we were naturally arrayed together, and the convictions of a civilization worthy of that costly preservation, will exalt peace and war against conflict for all time to come."

Four members of the cabinet, including the secretary of state, were in the company of officials who heard the pronouncement and participated in the anniversary demonstration. Other distinguished guests included prominent members of the diplomatic corps at Washington.

In the course of his prepared address, the president also took occasion to renew the nation's pledge of participation in the broader affairs of the world and declared his belief that the time had come for "essential co-operation" among nations generally for the betterment of the world.

Further Breach "Unthinkable"

"We must not claim for the new world," said Mr. Harding, "certainly not for our colonies alone, all the liberal thought of a century and a half ago. There were liberal views and attending sympathy in England and a passionate devotion to more liberal tendencies in France. The triumph of freedom in the American colonies greatly strengthened liberal views in the old world. Inevitably this liberal public opinion, deliberate and grown dominant, brought Great Britain and America to a policy of accommodation and pacific adjustment for all our differences. There has been honorable and unbroken peace for more than a century, we came to common sacrifices and association in the world war, and a future breach of our peaceful and friendly relations is unthinkable. In the trusteeship of preserving civilization, we were naturally arrayed together and the convictions of a civilization worthy of that costly preservation, will exalt peace and war against conflict for all time to come."

"Our thoughts have lately been concerned with those events which made history on the scale of a world, rather than of a continent. Yet, the lesson is the same. It is the lesson of real independence among the nations which lead civilization."

Fulfilled Obligation to Travel

"In our great crisis, nearly a century and a half ago, France came to our aid and made our independence possible. In her supremely anxious hour we gladly went to her support and did our part to secure her liberty. A grateful republic fulfilled an obligation which the passing generations had not dulled."

"Reflecting today on the inevitable-ness of our participation on our ties of kinship, friendship and fellowship, and appraising anew the way the world—God's good world—must share the aspirations to realize the noblest ideals of mankind, there is a fresh hungering for understanding, a new call for co-operation, a clear conviction of purposes, and devotions and loyalties not limited to sovereignties nor national boundaries. As the fortunate, successful citizen is both in application and example to the community, his growth, so must the fortunate successful nations help the world to the higher and nobler levels of accomplishment. Here at Yorktown was sealed the charter of the new and free America, but in the charter was written the rational liberalism of the maturing 18th century crying out from both continents."

Co-operation Among Nations

"Shall mankind, then, go on yet for generations, for centuries, knowing but refusing to be guided by these truths? Not if conscience and reason are properly asserted. I believe the time is come when there must be recognition of essential co-operation among nations, devoted, each of them, in its own peculiar national way, to the common good, the progress, the advance of all human kind. Let us hope that we stand at the dawn of a day, in which nations shall be stronger, for contributions to the world's betterment, because they will feel the assurance of common purposes and united aspiration, and the security of a common devotion to the ends of peace and civilization."

"One need not picture a world sovereignly, ruling over all the varying races, traditions and national cultures, because it will never be. No program which seems to submerge nationality will succeed. This republic will never destroy the soul which impelled our gratifying attainments. In the sober circumspection, retrospection and introspection of these crucial times we do believe there is sanity and urgent need in bringing the best thought of all great peoples into understanding and co-operative endeavor which shuns the alliances in arms and strengthens the concords of peace, so that each may realize its highest destiny and contribute its utmost to human advancement and attending human happiness."

ALMOST STARVED FOR TWO YEARS

PITTSFIELD RESIDENT HAD TO LIVE ON MILK AND CRACKERS

"When I began taking Tanlac I was suffering so dreadfully with stomach trouble that I practically had to live on crackers and milk for two years. Tanlac has restored my health so completely that I can sit down to a table heaped with wholesome food and eat just as heartily as I want without feeling a particle of distress afterwards," said Mrs. Mary Cross, of 31 Greylock street, Pittsfield, Mass.

"Before I got Tanlac I had been suffering for two years and had tried everything I knew of without getting any better. I would have died if I had not got such relief from Tanlac. From my food that I was so weak I could scarcely drag around the house. My stomach had got so sour as vinegar, I would become awfully nauseated, and bloated with gas until I could hardly get my breath. I had to always be taking medicine for constipation, and had such terrible headaches they almost drove me distracted."

"Some of my friends urged me to take Tanlac, and I tried it. It was a perfect health and built me up eleven pounds in weight. It has given me a splendid appetite, relieves all my aches, and never has an ache or pain. I am feeling better than I have in years. All the praise and gratitude for my good health is due entirely to Tanlac."

SPRINGTIME SCORES

ANOTHER HIT

"Springtime" was given its second presentation at the Opera House last night, under the auspices of the Girls' City club, and, if possible, was received with greater enthusiasm than on the preceding night. It is certain that the large audience which attended enjoyed itself thoroughly, and showed full appreciation of every number. All who attended expressed their astonishment at the remarkable degree of excellence achieved under the direction of Miss Louise F. Close of the John B. Rogers Producing Co.

Miss Alice Dacey, as "Elvira Judd," a young widow with vampirish propensities, and later as "Elvira Eastman," a social butterfly, granddaughter of the original "Elvira," was simply immense, and her song numbers were among the very best on the program.

In yesterday's review of "Springtime," Miss Dacey's splendid work was unintentionally overlooked, and it is but fair that she should be given just credit at this time.

The other members of the cast were deserving of all the good things said of their work by the audience, and together the show was one that will long be remembered by those who attended.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

A most enjoyable birthday party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Brumley at 33 Cushing street, Tuesday evening in honor of their little grandchild, Hazel Peete, the daughter of Mrs. Alvin Peete. It being her first birthday. Refreshments were served and music and games were enjoyed. The party broke up at a seasonable hour wishing the little hostess many happy returns of the day.

The committee in charge of the affair consisted of the following:

NEXT STEP TO END LEGAL WAR STATUS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—Exchange of ratifications at Berlin of the "Treaty of Berlin" finally establishing peace between the United States and Germany is to be the next step ending the nation's legal war status.

Following ratification by the senate last night of the German and also the Austrian and Hungarian peace treaties, the state department today was in position to proceed with the last formalities. Appointment of diplomatic officers, however, is not anticipated for several weeks at least.

Renunciation of commercial and other trade treaties, pending for exchange of consular officers, are scheduled to follow the peace treaties.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

By Theatres Own Press Agents

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

Hope Eden, the Miracle Girl, presented by Prescott, gives an undeniably interesting act based on telepathy. The act is the best of the week. It is different from any other production of its general type before the public today, and some things accomplished are unquestionably done with greater speed than we have ever known before. It is an act in which mind-reading is seemingly resorted to, for there appears to be no other medium by means of which the clairvoyant can get up the vast number of facts she presents.

Jean Girard, assisted by her brother Charlie, accomplishes a snappy act, and the remainder of the bill holds many snappy bits, including the Belgian Rose, Fred and Marjorie Dale, Carleton & Fette Paul, Leaven & Miller, and Archelous & Venus.

THE STRAND

Helen Chadwick, called the most beautiful girl on the American stage, returned to her previous habit of wearing wonderfully beautiful gowns in "Dangerous Curve Ahead," the Rupert Hughes special picture production which is being shown for the last time today at the Strand. Don't miss seeing the star and the picture. It's great. In "Help Wanted," Male with Blanche Sweet starring, the patrons are also assured of an unusually attractive and entertaining picture offering. For the week-end starting Thursday, William Farnum in "His Greatest Sacrifice," Marie Prevost in "Moonlight Follies" will be shown.

OPERA HOUSE

"Blind Youth," Lou Tellegen's great heart-to-heart drama, which is to be presented by the new Lowell Players at the Opera House, beginning this afternoon and continuing twice daily for the remainder of the week, is unquestionably one of the best stage given stock patterns in a season. It is a play which is used to introduce the new leading woman of the company, Shirley Magrath, a young and talented actress who came out of the west with an enviable record of many successes. Miss Magrath has everything to make her popular with playgoers of the city and suburbs. She has youth, person charm and exceptional ability. She's petite and of the brunette type.

The management announces a sweeping reduction in the prices which goes into effect this week. All orchestra seats that formerly sold at 75 cents now demand 50 cents; 50 cents seats will sell for 25 and 25 and 15 cents respectively. At the matinee the prices will be 10, 15 and 20 cents. This is no small concession, and these prices will make a strong appeal to the playgoers all over the city and suburbs. Not since the "good old days" of the distant past have such prices prevailed. The response to this announcement has already become most apparent, and it's advisable for those who wish to get their favorite reservations to make application at once. Tel. 261.

This week marks the 32nd anniversary of the opening of the Opera House. The management is making it a noteworthy event by the presentation of new faces, a super-stock production, and a slashing in prices that will surely meet with the approval of all. The play in preparation for next week is "The Little Puritan."

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Final performances of "Experience," the great George Fennel production for Paramount, will be given at the Merrimack Square theatre this evening. Tomorrow afternoon the usual weekly matinee performance will take place. The big feature for Thursday, Friday and Saturday will be "The Courtship of Miles Standish," a photo-

ENERGY LOW? TAKE YEAST IN TABLET FORM

Combined With Iron and Other Health Builders—Watch the Quick Improvement in You!

Science finds that a great many people grow prematurely old and worn out because their foods lack one all-important substance called vitamins. Ordinary baking yeast, it has been found, is rich in vitamins. Those who have eaten common yeast for many years have derived a great deal of benefit from it. But the trouble is that only a comparatively few people can "digest" yeast. It is not so fast as it is slow, and it is not so pleasant to take but is far more effective than ordinary yeast because it contains highly concentrated brewers' yeast, derived from the richest vitamins than baking yeast.

In addition, Ironized Yeast contains organic or vegetable iron (easily assimilated by the system) which for years has been prescribed as a blood-builder. Thus, in Ironized Yeast you get the benefit of two splendid tonics in one.

If you have been sickly, thin and run-down generally, if you feel your self getting old and lack the energy and ambition you once possessed, if you get tired easily, and are troubled with poor appetite, nervousness, sleeplessness, then, by all means try Ironized Yeast. It will, in most cases, bring results that are actually astonishing.

Ironized Yeast keeps indefinitely and costs about the same per dose as common yeast, but is much more effective. Each package contains 10 days' treatment and costs only a dollar, or just for a day's special sections for full trial, each package $8c. It is sold by druggists everywhere. Made by the Ironized Yeast company, Atlanta, Ga.—Adv.

NEW CHARTER ADOPTED

The Sun today can feel elated that its advice relative to a change of charter has been followed by the voters. We congratulate them and all who worked to bring about this very necessary change for the betterment of our city and all its people. While yesterday's election brought the fight decision in the adoption of the new charter, the total vote was such as to indicate a strange indifference on the part of the voters on an issue of such vital importance.

Only 16,473 votes out of a total registration of 32,000 were recorded at the polls and of these 8,534 or a majority of 631 were in favor of the new charter. That majority, however, served the purpose quite as well as if it had been much larger. The new charter is adopted and will take full effect on the first Monday in January. It is really surprising to find what misapprehension prevails in regard to the mayor's powers. The mayor can appoint the city solicitor and his own private secretary without consulting the council. The council elects the city clerk, treasurer and auditor without nomination by the mayor. Other heads of departments are nominated by the mayor, subject to confirmation by the council and the council can remove any head of a department over the mayor's veto by a two-thirds vote.

Thus it appears that the mayor is not given autocratic powers although he can suspend any department head subject to the approval of the council. It would be difficult to place more effective checks upon the mayor's power if he is to have the executive authority necessary to enable him to direct the city's business somewhat as a general business manager.

It must be remembered that under the present charter the mayor's functions are merely social or nominal, so far as they are supposed to extend beyond that of the ordinary commissioner.

We are not prepared to say that the new charter will remedy all the defects of our city government as it exists today. There are some features of the charter such as the board of public service and the budget committee which are entirely new to Lowell and it is hard to say just how they will work out. If they do not give satisfaction, however, they can be abolished. We are firmly convinced that the general plan of the charter is right and in full accord with the most advanced ideas of municipal government everywhere. The separation of the legislative and administrative functions of government remedies what is by far the worst feature of the present charter. Ward representation that will give a larger council and prevent discrimination or neglect of any particular part of the city, is another good feature which will result in a more representative municipal council.

Next to these improvements, perhaps the very best change provided for is the increase in the membership of the school board to nine members. That will offer an opportunity for women to enter the board and it will go far to prevent office seekers from securing such positions by corrupt means which is always facilitated by having to deal only with small bodies or majorities consisting of three men.

Now that the charter is adopted, we believe it will give the people a chance to improve their government; and we are not among those who believe that the electorate rather than the system is to blame for the shortcomings of our city government under the present charter.

THE THREATENED STRIKE

As we have already stated, the blame for the threatened railroad tie-up does not rest with the unions alone. Ever since the passage of the Adamson law in 1916, the railroads have been looking for an opportunity to square accounts with the unions. There is no doubt that the Brotherhoods have been fully aware of this purpose ever since the roads were turned back to private ownership. The transportation act of 1920 is apparently disregarded by both parties. The unions pretend to be striking against the 12 per cent cut down; but this action would probably not have been taken but for the challenge of the railroad labor board to order another wage reduction, the amount of which the roads promised to remit in lower freights.

Thus the conflict was precipitated and it would seem that the government should be able to exert its authority to compel both parties to comply with the law. The railroads have refused to respect the provisions of the transportation act that affirm the principle of collective bargaining. The unions have noted this and made it a part of their campaign favoring a strike. Thus the railroads are not justified in pointing to the unions as wholly responsible for this trouble.

What is remarkable about the whole affair is that the interests of the public at large seem to be wholly ignored. It is time that some steps were taken to bring the railroads and unions alike under the supremacy of law and to protect the public against a threat which, if carried out, would entail a loss of many millions of dollars, untold suffering, and perhaps loss of life.

Such a strike at this time, in the midst of the worst business depression in a generation, would be a crime against the nation for which there can be no justification. Public opinion of the country will condemn any railroad strike declared on such an unreasonable basis, and it will condemn equally, or even more so, the railroads that have been planning a trial of strength with the unions and have selected the present as the time most suitable to them to issue the challenge.

It is hoped, however, that the calamity will be averted by the conference now arranged.

GAMBLING DEVICES

Gambling has many devices for separating people from their money. Makers of loaded dice have captured the market with a new form of dishonesty, the loaded anti-vibration tops.

A put-and-take top is exhibited at a convention of the New York Women's Christian Temperance Union. It creates great excitement, much interest. The convention passes resolutions against the tops.

Drunkness can be cured by taking away liquor. But drinking cannot be stopped by taking away gambling devices. Montreal's Christian had its gambling devices carried off in a police wagon. On Robt. the gambling king, sent for jump sugar, touched it up with pencil and dice games started. In case of a raid, the players could not do the dice. Some City town gamblers played by low-made a jackpot, each player sat with a lump of sugar in front of him, and the one on whose lump of sugar a fly settled first, took the pot. Once the gambling habit is acquired, it is hard to break it. Its aim is to get money away from other people and some of the gambling schemes are wonderfully successful because the "easy marks" are so numerous.

NOTABLE DECISION

The supreme court of the United States gives its sanction to the decision of a Pennsylvania court, holding that banks are responsible for losses sustained by depositors upon checks drawn by depositors' agents in excess of the amounts fixed by the depositors. It appears to have been a common practice for certain banks to allow agents to overdraw checks in excess of the amount allowed by the depositors who maintain such accounts. The highest court in the land holds that banks can allow this only on their own liability. It will cause some banks to be more particular in preventing certain agents from overdrawing their accounts.

KNEE BREECHES

Now we are told that Dame Fashion has decreed knickers for women and knee breeches for men. This is an edict from the convention of the United National Clothing Association, but we know some people who would not don knee breeches if 10,000 were taken to bring the railroads and unions alike under the supremacy of law and to protect the public against a threat which, if carried out, would entail a loss of many millions of dollars, untold suffering, and perhaps loss of life.

The value to the public of the telephone system has never been questioned. No one familiar with the operations of the company's official personnel and aims can say that the company is not doing its level best to give the public the best service possible. The telephone system has been an unreasoned basis, and it will condemn equally, or even more so, the railroads that have been planning a trial of strength with the unions and have selected the present as the time most suitable to them to issue the challenge.

It is hoped, however, that the calamity will be averted by the conference now arranged.

I suppose you can assure me that they are original?" To this the fair one responded: "Not quite. 'The Kiss' was a collaboration."—Baltimore Sun.

The Faithful Sculptor

Clare Sheridan, the sculptor—she was Miss Moreton Frewen before her marriage—was praising an American sculptor, "I like his work immensely. I suppose you can assure me that they are original?" To this the fair one responded: "Not quite. 'The Kiss' was a collaboration."—Baltimore Sun.

Aviator Stumped

The aviator was boasting about his calling. "At last," he said, "man has conquered his work. After conquering the land, mastering the sea and harnessing the tides, he has conquered the air. We airmen represent the final achievement of mankind." "Which conquered the air?" retorted one of his hearers. "We have," replied the aviator, "blatantly." "Well, jump out of a window six floors high and see who's boss!"

The Boyless Lady

A small boy, looking rather bewildered, approached a policeman and said: "Please, sir, have you seen anything of a lady around here?" "Yes, yes," answered the officer, "I've seen several." "Well, what have you seen without a little boy?" persisted the youngster. "Yes," said the policeman, "a relieved look crossed his face. 'I'm the little boy. Where's the lady?'"

Wonderful Understanding

Two young women artists in Spain arrived at a country inn, hot, dusty and thirsty. They could not talk Spanish, but wanted some milk badly, so one of them drew a most beautiful high art cow, while the other jingled some coins. The Spaniards looked and a boy was sent off post haste. In half an hour the boy returned, hot and triumphant—with two tickets for a bull fight.

Next Year

There are no roses in the garden now. The riot of the golden-glow droops serene; But there will be new blossoms on the bough, Next year, next year.

The things we meant to do are not all done. Joy has sought counsel far too much from fear; But new delights are waiting to be won. Next year, next year.

Your eyes, my dear, are wistful still. I know. With golden-dreams no longer promise clear; But where the distance beckons we shall go. Next year, next year.

Perhaps we took the wrong road at the turn. And were not wholly sure what course to steer; But overhead our guiding stars will burn. Next year, next year.

All paths are longer than we thought at first. The days are shorter, and they seem more dear; But God's forgiving destinies have nursed. Next year, next year.

PRESENTED HOPE CHEST

A very pleasant surprise party was held Tuesday evening at the home of Miss Mary Bessell in Cumberland road when about thirty of her friends presented her a beautiful hope chest. Miss Bessell, though greatly surprised, responded very readily to the employment of all. During the evening games were played and a musical program was carried out, songs being sung by Misses Lorett, McCormick and Lucia Bean, accompanied by Miss Nerney. Miss Carroll followed with a recitation. The feature of the evening was an old-fashioned "bread-and-butter" by Miss Mary Bessell and Miss Catharine Chisholm in costume. Refreshments were served and the party broke up at a respectable hour, having had a wonderful time.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

If you happen to get lost in city hall and cannot find anybody to help you out, yell for City Messenger Owen Monahan. Election day the messenger was busier than four election officers. "I'd hate to ask him why he went to dinner so late, but of course election day is always some busier than a Saturday, for instance," Mr. Monahan found a reporter, new on the job, wandering around the corridors the other day. He has a faculty for helping lost souls, and says he can always tell a newspaperman from a distance by his—in a manner of speaking—manner of poking around. The messenger gave the new man some fine tips, helped him to get a story he wanted and then walked down the street with him to ease him on his way. For nine years Mr. Monahan has been doing this sort of thing in addition to working at his job, and that is why he is popularly personified with the typewriter-mill workers.

Warden Queenan, of precinct 1, ward 2, is not a difficult man to approach when you are honestly looking for information of interest to the public. Now reporters find Mr. Queenan an easy drop the task at hand and tell all he knows, if it will help any. Tuesday the warden was pretty busy most of the day, but the reporters who dropped in during the morning and noon hours, could always get at him for information, and Queenan was ready with the latest figures and meaty comments on the probable outcome.

Precinct 1, ward 3, had more women voters than men in the morning, but this was not unusual. Election day at noon showed 18 more women voting than men. The total ballot at 11 o'clock in the morning was 235. Here is a fine example of woman suffrage.

City hall patrons of the little barber shop run by Johnny Papaglanis at 157 Moody street, learned today that John has a brother fighting in the army of Greece against the Turks. John doesn't talk much about his family affairs. He prefers to let his customers tell him their troubles, but yesterday he happened to ask John what he was reading, and discovered him pouring over a New York newspaper containing the latest list of names of wounded and slain Greek soldiers, many of them known to the Lowell barber. John tells me that he has a brother, Theodor Papaglanis, 23 years old, in the ranks of the Greek army, employed at the present time in the ambulance corps. He has been fighting, John says, for more than a year, and many of his companions are no longer on earth. John's last letter to his Lowell brother was dated August 10. It was heavily censored by the Greek army official bureau, and John doesn't know much about the army's doings. The Lowell barber tells me he is a republican and would like to see the king overthrown and Venizelos returned to power.

In walking through the business district an observant person is bound to be impressed with the great improvement in window displays that has been made within recent years. Not only has the shape of the windows and the fixtures undergone a change for the better, but the merchandise itself is far more attractively and tastefully displayed. No longer do we see goods seemingly thrown into a window in haphazard fashion, as was the case in some instances in the not far distant past, but the displays in our business district, particularly at night with electric illumination, compare favorably with Boston or any other large city.

It seems to me I noticed something in the papers recently about the city making parking regulations for vehicles. Signs have been posted and I have noticed these in various parts of the city. Just how well these signs have been observed can be judged when I say I noticed an auto parked directly beneath every sign in sight. Two or three of the varieties which are stood on curbstones had been knocked down by autos parked beside them on forbidden ground. Evidently there are many people in this community who do not believe in signs.

Allenbur's has been tried and tested for years, and really marvelous results have been accomplished in the most severe cases where the suffering and agony was intense and pitiable and when the patient was helpless.

SENATE RATIFIES PEACE TREATIES

Pacts With Germany, Austria and Hungary Accepted by 66 to 20 Vote

14 Democrats Support Ratification—No U. S. Membership in Reparations

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—The senate last night ratified the treaty of peace with Germany with the reservations reported by the foreign relations committee. The vote was 66 for ratification to 20 against, or eight more than the necessary two-thirds majority.

Fourteen democratic senators voted in favor of ratification and two republican senators, Borah, Idaho and La Follette, Wisconsin voted against it. A third republican senator, Norris, Nebraska, who was absent on account of sickness, was paired against the treaty.

Soon afterward the senate ratified the peace treaty with Austria by the same vote.

Another and similar peace treaty with Hungary also was ratified, completing the administration's immediate peace program with the former central powers.

The reservations to the German treaty which were adopted without a record vote provide that the United States shall not have representation on the allied reparations commission, or on any other international agency, without expressed consent of congress.

The roll call on ratification of the German treaty follows:

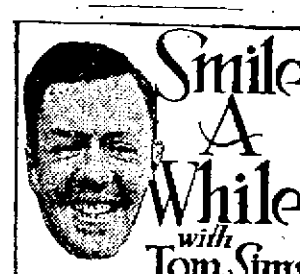

For ratification: Republicans—Ball, Brandegee, Burton, Calder, Cameron, Capper, Colt, Cummins, Curtis, Dillingham, Dupont, Eager, Elkins, Ernst, Fernald, France, Frelinghuysen, Gooding, Hale, Harrell, Johnson, Kellogg, Kenyon, Keyes, Lenroot, Lodge, McCormick, McCumber, McKinley, McLean, McNary, Moses, Nelson, New, Newberry, Nicholson, Norbeck, Odell, Page, Penrose, Poindexter, Shortridge, Smoot, Spencer, Sterling, Sutherland, Townsend, Wadsworth, Warren, Watson, Indiana; Weller and Willis—Total, 52.

Democrats—Ashurst, Broussard, Dnal, Fletcher, Gerry, Kendrick, Myers, Owen, Pomeroy, Ransdall, Shields, Trammell, Underwood, and Walsh, Massachusetts. Total, 14.

Against ratification: Republicans—Borah and La Follette. Total, 2. Democrats—Caraway, Culberson, Glass, Harris, Harrison, Hefflin, Jones of New Mexico, King, McKellar, Overman, Pittman, Reed, Sheppard, Simmons, Stanley, Walsh of Montana, Watson of Georgia and Williams. Total, 18.

With the vacancy caused by the death of Senator Knox, the total membership of the senate was 55. Nine senators were paired as follows: Hitchcock, democrat, Nebraska; Jones, republican, Washington; Ladd, republican, North Dakota; Phipps, republican, Colorado; Smith, democrat, South Carolina, and Stanford, republican, Oregon, for ratification, and Norris, republican, Nebraska; Robinson, democrat, Arkansas, and Swanson, democrat, Virginia, against ratification.

Before final action was taken a democratic effort to substitute for the German treaty the treaty of Versailles with the 12 Lodge reservations was defeated 69 to 25.

Berton Braley's Daily Poem The True Singer

I was steeped in the song of the little birds
Who whisper and whine and wail,
Who weep and despair over broken shards;
And the breath in my lungs grew stale,
The breath in my lungs grew stale and dead
Like the damp of marshes old,
Where he ebbed and poisonous mists are bed
In the reek of the rotting mould.

But a great wind came a-blowing from the sea,
Oh a clean wind and a keen wind came to me,
And it set my pulses singing
To a rhythm bold and swinging
And of little whining songs it set me free.

And the sighing and the sobbing died away
And my eyes again were lifted to the day,
And I tossed my head and laughed
As I breathed the magic draught
Of a chantry that a master-singer made
Of a healthy, lusty ballad, unafraid.

It was Kipling, smiling bravely on his lyre
As he made his songs of beauty and of fire,
And my heart-strings twanged in time
To the throbbing of his rhyme
As he sang of man who seeks his true desire.

Oh the little birds are cravens, for they prate
Of the soul of man down-trampled by his fate,
But the Kipling verses thunder
With the ever-lasting wonder
Of the soul of man undaunted by the odds,
Of the spirit that will front the very Gods.

East, west, north, south, round the world and back again
The kettle drums of Kipling roll and beat,
"See, land, hill, plain, on the open track again
All the world is waiting at your feet!"
Work, play, love, hate, life's a game of chance for you,
Face the job before you and be strong;
Win, lose, rise, fall, fortune holds Romance for you,
That's the heart and spirit of his song!

I was steeped in the lays of the bards who weep
That all is a labor vain,
But a great wind rose from the surging deep
And blew the fog from my brain,
And I knew the struggle to reach the goal
Was worth the trying, and knew
That man is the master of his own soul
And that Kipling was singing true!

THREATS TO TEAR DOWN U. S. FLAG

Letters to American Embassy
In Paris Protest Conviction of Sacco and Vanzetti

Paris Communist Papers
Comment On Demonstrations
by Radicals in Italy

PARIS, Oct. 19.—Threats to tear down the American flag over the American embassy here, are contained in many letters, which have been received at the embassy in the past few days protesting against the conviction in the United States of Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti, two Italians, for the murder of Frederick A. Barker, paymaster of a shoe manufacturing establishment at Braintree, Mass. In all, between 300 and 400 letters of protest have been received at the rate of more than 100 a day.

There have been numerous demonstrations by radical elements in Italy over this case, and the communist newspapers here in Paris have taken up the campaign.

The police and the French government departments have inflated precautionary measures. The embassy, it is stated, will be well guarded.

No action towards sentencing the prisoners in the Braintree case has yet been taken by the Massachusetts courts, sentence having been temporarily stayed and the times for filing exceptions taken by the defense with a view to an appeal having been extended to Nov. 1 at the time of their conviction at Dedham, last July.

A pamphlet attacking American justice and the American government was circulated widely in the Paris street cars yesterday, and a copy of the pamphlet was delivered at the embassy today.

to the extent of 17 per cent. was in the postal index. It was declared that the causes for this situation could all be summed up in one word—war.

As a part of the government's plan of alleviation, he said, the government proposed to ask parliament for an apportionment of another 300,000 pounds to enable ex-service men to emigrate to the dominions, whether, he said, 90,000 already had settled with government assistance.

Mr. Lloyd George said there was undoubtedly signs of revival in some of the most important industries of England, but that also there were very important industries which were not showing signs of revival. He added that the government proposed to amend the export credit scheme.

Mr. Lloyd George declared it was obvious that neither the exporter nor the importer could build upon an artificial basis of exchange. He said if trade was to be started up again at the element of risk that the government had concluded that the risk was much greater by standing still and doing nothing. It was proposed, he said, to raise the guarantee to traders from 55 per cent. to 100 per cent. and to fix a maximum for each firm to be determined by an advisory committee.

PREPARING FOR BIG GAME SATURDAY

In the expectation of a hard game against Concord Saturday, Coach Eddie Cawley sent his charges through an hour's scrimmage at Spaulding park yesterday afternoon. Coach Cawley took charge of the team, while Ralph Perry handled the second. As was expected, a great deal of time was spent in showing the lads how to play the positions in the right way. Coach Cawley drilled them especially on the proper way to smash in and break up a play before it got well under way. A marked improvement was noted in the play of Rowland. As soon as he becomes accustomed to his new position his work will be of the same high grade that he displayed at Concord. During the scrimmage several new plays were tried and proved successful. The second team defeated the first, 6 to 0. The team, however, was strengthened by the return of Taplan, Cahill and Artie Conway. The work of Conway was spectacular as time after time he crashed through the first line for gains and finally plunged over for a score. Taplan, a strong candidate for a tackle, also showed up well as did Cahill, guard in competition for a locked position will be closer than ever now as Frank Davis, the basketball star, is also eligible again and is expected to play today or tomorrow. The first and second teams lined up as follows yesterday:

First—King, Condon, ends; Sullivan, Rowlandson, tackles; McManis, line; Winters, guards; Butler, center; Capt. Liston, Normandin, Hilton and Willard, backs.

Second—Kelcey, Garity, ends; Long, Taplan, tackles; Cahill, Brins, guards; Bailey, center; Sweeney, Conway, Miller and Craig, backs.

BLUENOSE SENDS FORMAL CHALLENGE

MALDEN, N. S., Oct. 19.—Formal challenge for the international fishing schooner race trophy, won last year by the Gloucesterian Esperanto, will be forwarded to Gloucester today by the skipper of the Lunenburg craft Bluenose.

Bluenose won the elimination races from several other Canadian schooners and the right to challenge the Esperanto, which will defend the cup won by the United States vessel in 1920. The first of the races will be held off the coast of Nova Scotia today. The Bluenose is expected to arrive here today, having sailed from Gloucester Monday.

The fishing schooner Alcan and Independence, which took part in the elimination races, will divide third and fourth prizes of $500 and $400 equally between them, their ships having declined an attempt to decide the issue by a separate race yesterday failed because of insufficient wind.

A big mass meeting at the high school annex is to be held Friday night in the plans of Fred Fisher, leader of the football team. Over at the high school annex is behind the football team and the entire student body is expected to be on hand at the game against Concord Saturday. An added feature will be the first appearance of the girl cheer leaders who have recently been appointed.

George Loane Tucker's Last Film Soon To Be Released

BETTY COMPSON, SHE IS THE HEROINE IN "LADIES MUST LIVE," SOON TO BE RELEASED. IT IS GEORGE LOANE TUCKER'S LAST PHOTOPLAY.

GIBSON GOWLAND, HE IS THE CAVE MAN WHO "TREATS 'EM ROUGH AND TELLS 'EM NOTHING" IN "LADIES MUST LIVE."

By JAMES W. DEAN
NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—The last photo-play made by the late George Loane Tucker, producer of the famous "The Miracle Man," will soon be released by Paramount.

It is called "Ladies Must Live," and was adapted from the magazine story by the same title written by Alice Duer Miller.

This film is the only one made by Tucker since "The Miracle Man." He worked 20 months on it and was frequently interrupted by his illness. Even at the time of his death he had indicated changes to be made in the film. These alterations have since been made.

The story, as I remember it in magazine form, in no way offers a plot of merit comparable to the theme of "The Miracle Man."

It deals with the life of parasitical women, those who neither toil nor spin but live in ease through the largess of rich husbands and brothers-in-law.

An aviator and his cave-man mechanic enter this society. The cave man jukes off with one of the women. The heroine and the aviator pursue them and are evaded by the cave man. This leaves them in a rather compromising situation.

The document comes when the heroine marries the penniless aviator, despite the protests of those who would have arranged a marriage of financial convenience.

Although this story does not offer the spiritual element contained in "The Miracle Man," it still is analogous in that it is the story of a woman's reform. And the role of the woman is played by Betty Compson, who first gained notice by her work in "The Miracle Man."

Tucker was one of the most romantic figures in the picture industry. Practically a stranger to the business, he made the first so-called "millionaire."

Another series of Nick Carter stories is to be filmed.

A German film company is filming "Lady Hamilton" at Naples.

Del Andrews is to direct Douglas Maclean in "The Hot-entot."

BANK MAN BACK FROM CALIFORNIA

Nathan G. Lamson, president of the Merrimack River Savings bank, was given an informal welcome home dinner last night by the bank trustees. Mr. Lamson has just returned from Los Angeles, where he represented the bank at the American Bankers' association's annual convention.

Following the dinner, which was served in the bank building, President Lamson was called upon by Treasurer Franklin E. Johnson for a story of his experiences. Mr. Lamson gave an interesting talk in which he touched the Canadian Rockies and the Pacific coast states. A visit to the Yosemite valley and Impressions of Portland and Seattle were features which Mr. Lamson particularly stressed. At the conclusion of his talk he exhibited many of the fine pictures of points of interest throughout the west which he collected during his journey.

Concluding his remarks, Mr. Lamson reported the convention proceedings, which were of great importance to the banks of the country and to business men in all lines.

2—Brotherhood leaders are on their way here to hear the government's attitude through the railroad labor board tomorrow.

3—Railroad executives of the central division meet Friday in Chicago to discuss all phases of the strike situation, while executives of other divisions meet simultaneously in their own regions.

Plan to Avert Strike

Freight rate reductions approximately equivalent to the 12 per cent. wage reduction in wages ordered last July 1 by the railroad labor board, were indicated as the probable basis suggestion the labor board will propose, with the backing of the administration, to avert the strike.

"I understand," said Commissioner Ben W. Hooper, a member of the "public" group of the labor board, "that the Interstate Commerce commission has a number of important rate reduction cases on hand, on which it will act immediately. That will give us something to work on."

Labor Board's Policy

The board's policy as outlined by Commissioner Hooper, would propose to the Brotherhood chiefs immediate suspension of the strike order on their parts, and their influence in preventing other walkouts, while the executives would be asked to concede the withdrawal of the proposed request for further wage cuts and grant an immediate reduction of freight rates.

President J. R. Howard of the Farm Bureau Federation today had on file before the Interstate Commerce commission here a petition for a 10 to 20 per cent. freight reduction on necessities of life, and at the same time he telegraphed union leaders and railroad executives urging them to join him in a conference.

Failure of the brotherhood chiefs to join a strike agreement with the 11 other railroad unions at a conference here last week, has made uncertain the outcome of their strike conferences beginning today.

Referendum votes have authorized the leaders of the maintenance of way men and shippers, who meet here today and tomorrow, to call a strike at their discretion but ship critics leaders have summoned their executive council and executives of the maintenance of way union have called general chairmen of their 12 divisions.

Prospects of Settlement Brighter
The membership of these two and others of the 11 organizations which have issued strike notices number 1,500,000, as compared with half a million in the train service group now under instructions for sectional walkouts beginning October 30.

Officials of the telegraphers have scheduled a meeting here Friday and the clerks, Sunday. No definite decision, leaders of these 11 unions indicated will be made before the end of the week.

While prospects for settlement of the strike were growing brighter, army officials, it is understood, were making preparations for operating trains by federal troops.

Union Heads Confer
CLEVELAND, Ohio, Oct. 19.—Prior to their departure tonight for Chicago, where tomorrow they will confer with the railroad labor board in an effort to find a basis for settling the nation-wide railroad strike set to begin October 30, heads of the "big five" railroad transportation organizations met here today and discussed matters that may be presented at the Chicago conference as well as those pertaining to carrying on the strike.

It was the first meeting of the national organization heads since authorizing the strike in Chicago last Saturday.

While the "big five" leaders have maintained almost unbroken silence in regard to the purpose of the conference with the labor board and its possible results, it is known they are hopeful that some basis of settlement which can be accepted by both the unions and the railway executives will be evolved and a paralysis of the nation's transportation system averted.

Full Support of Labor Board
WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—The railroad labor board will be given the full support of federal authority in its endeavor to avert the national railroad strike and will be expected through the result to justify its creation.

The above summary of the strike situation was given in official circles before President Harding, accompanied by several members of his cabinet.

One of the theories advanced by the postal authorities is that instead of a patient some jealous suitor sent the box to Miss Rosenfeld.

CHANGE OF VENUE STATISTICS SHOW DROP IN COST OF LIVING

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—Based on statistics from 32 cities, the cost of living in the United States decreased 1.7 per cent. from last May to September and 1.1 per cent. from June, 1920 to September, according to the bureau of labor statistics. The decrease from May to September ranged from 0.1 per cent. for Portland, Me., to 3.5 per cent. for Jacksonville, Fla., with New York showing a decrease of 1.1 per cent. and Boston 0.9 per cent. Cincinnati 2.5 per cent., Dover, 0.9 per cent., Houston 2.0 per cent., Memphis 1.2 per cent., San Francisco 1.3 per cent. and Seattle 2.5 per cent.

Negro Arrested

Lively is charged with killing seven year old Matilda Resco, mutilating her body, and burying it in the cellar of his home in East Meriden. The child's body was found a week after she had disappeared. Lively vanished the day before the discovery of the murder, and a wide search for him was conducted by the police. In his confession, the police said, Lively told them he had roamed through New England and Canada, since he left East Meriden in June. He reached Vinland this morning on foot and was recognized by Policeman Asa Wilson, whom the negro shot when the officer attempted to arrest him. Lively surrendered later. Policeman Wilson, who has a bullet in his lung, is believed to be fatally wounded. According to the police, Lively said he did not intend to kill the child. In substance, the police said, he told this story: "I didn't mean to kill Matilda," said Lively. "She was a playmate of Robert, my seven year old son, who she named 'Snowball.' On June 4 she came to my house. Snowball was out there playing around and she had these things around. She smashed a glass. I told her to stop, but she didn't obey me. Then I got angry. I picked up a chunk of wood. I don't know what made me do it, but I threw it at her. It struck her on the head. She fell after walking a few steps. I didn't think she was dead. I put water and mopped off the blood. After waiting 15 minutes I became frightened. Lively, the police said, then told how he feared to call help and becoming desperate, decided to hide her body. Lively positively denied he had assaulted the child before he killed her. He said the child had been made for lawnmowers.

STONE FLAYS R. R. LABOR BOARD

CLEVELAND, Oct. 19.—Warren B. Stone, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, attacked today in a statement why the Washington administration had not previously made an effort to find out whether the United States labor board is a "useless body." "We note in the morning papers," said Mr. Stone, "that the railroad labor board is going to assert its authority. It is strange that it should be discovered only when labor is trying to better its condition and is fighting a protest against further wage reductions and that then, and not until then, the United States railroad labor board has full authority."

He cited alleged instances of the Missouri and Northern Arkansas, the Atlantic and Birmingham, the Pennsylvania, the Erie and "numerous other roads," the officials of which "have simply tested the authority of the labor board and have told them very plainly and forcibly that they would not recognize them and abide by their decisions and now at this late date they come to the fore and asserting their authority, when labor is interested."

A case of doctoring was reported at the board of health office today. Dr. Fishman reported to Dr. Sherman for investigation the case of Edward Nelson, 22, of 230 Middlesex street where a right wrist was bitten by a dog said to be owned by Harry Ostroff, corner of Pearl and Middlesex streets.

A machine has been devised that tests the strength of clothing. A self-sharpening attachment has caused the child before he killed her.

STOCK MARKET

The following is a complete report, giving high, low and closing quotations:

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Traders evidently viewed the railroad labor situation with greater confidence today, judging from the course of stock market prices at the opening. A number of leading rails extended yesterday's rally by large fractions to almost two points. Northern Pacific, Delaware, Lackawanna & Western, and Chesapeake & Ohio displaying pronounced strength. Domestic and foreign oils also were higher, Houston, Royal Dutch and Mexican Petroleum being most favored. American Sugar, which broke sharply in yesterday's later dealings, rallied 24 points, but Sears, Roebuck and American Sugar, the latter at a new low record, were weak.

Early rally was sustained mainly by the further advance of oils, colors and some of the minor rails. Pullman recovered all but a point of yesterday's heavy losses and American Electric, Constant pressure was directed, however, against American Sugar, Sears, Roebuck and Harvester at losses at 14 to 25 points. Short interest in the rails, effecting losses of 1 1/2 to 3 1/2 points in Republic, Gulf States, U. S. Steel and Republic Iron common and preferred. Oils became unsettled before noon, when American Petroleum, American Petroleum, Call money opened at 4 1/2 per cent.

The market improved at mid-day on the 4 per cent. money rate although railroad bonds and common stocks continued heavy. Pullman made an extreme recovery of 5 1/2 points on declaration of the regular dividend. American specialties, National Cloak & Suit common, lost 2 points while the preferred rose 1/2.

Rails and food specialties hardened later, but steels, leathers and rubbers showed increased heaviness. The closing was irregular. Domestic bonds, including Liberty issues, were easier and foreign bonds showed no definite tone.

These Two Commissioners Lose Year as Result of Election

THUNDEROUS WELCOME TO GEN. DIAZ OF ITALY

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—New York arose bright and early today to give a thunderous welcome to General Armando Diaz, Italy's "man of destiny."

Destroyers and seaplanes journeyed down the harbor to greet the Giuseppe Verdi bringing to these shores the man who commanded the armies of Italy during the world war, and who has come to join his American buddies at their legion's convention in Kansas City.

General Diaz plainly was astonished at the warmth of the greeting and continually saluted in response to the plaudits of his admirers.

Committees representing the American Legion, representatives of the army and navy, diplomatic delegations and officers of Italian societies went down the bay in steamers and gave him the first greeting. As the steamer passed Governor's Island in sight of the Statue of Liberty, guns thundered a salute, which was returned.

Battery park was packed with a flag waving mass of humanity, estimated to number 10,000. More than half were Italians. The tri-color of Italy and the Stars and Stripes fluttered together. Three bands helped in the welcome.

As General Diaz stepped ashore and stood at salute, the cheers echoed and re-echoed up through the canyons formed by the skyscrapers along Broadway. Three hundred police, one hundred of them mounted, escorted the general to city hall, where Lieut. Governor Wood and Mayor Hylan were waiting. Lower Broadway stopped business and shouted its welcome. Every window in the tall buildings was crowded with people nous to get a glimpse of the general.

The city's welcome to General Diaz was the most enthusiastic of its kind since war days. Long streams of tape were hung from skyscrapers, confetti was thrown and the air was filled with a paper snow shower as the general's car whisked by. Police inspectors said they had seen no such spontaneous enthusiasm since Armistice day.

General Diaz, a fine, soldierly figure, stood up in his automobile throughout the ride from the Battery to city hall, saluting right and left.

Members of Italian societies, massed along the sidewalks, threw flowers in the pathway of the general. Lieut. Governor Wood and Mayor Hylan greeted General Diaz on the city hall steps and officially welcomed him to the state and city. General Diaz responded in Italian.

MOTOR TRUCK IS DAMAGED BY FIRE

A large motor truck owned by the John P. Quinn Co. was badly damaged by fire this forenoon at the corner of Manchester and Gorham streets. It is not known how the fire started, but when the operator, Henry Burgess, discovered the blaze, he drove hurriedly to the fire box and pulled in an alarm from box 48 at 11:10 o'clock. The fireman soon put out the blaze, but before the engine and electrical apparatus were burned. The body of the machine was also badly scorched.

At 8:22 o'clock an alarm was sent in from box 219 for a blaze in a closet on the second floor of the building numbered 413 Middlesex street and owned by David Ziskind. The fire was extinguished before any serious damage was caused.

A Frenchman has perfected the smallest bicycle motor made to be attached to ordinary bicycles.

BUILDING OPERATIONS ON THE DECLINE

(Special to The Sun)

BOSTON, Oct. 19.—Building operations in the commonwealth as a whole seem once more to be on the decline, although the cities of Boston, Worcester and Fall River showed for the month of September an increase in building over the previous month.

For the state as a whole, however, there was a decrease of slightly more than six per cent, to which may be added all the other large cities, including Springfield, New Bedford, Lynn, Lawrence and Chicopee, contributed.

The status of the building industry is generally measured by the value of building permits issued, and figures collected by the state department of labor and statistics show that during the month of September the total value of such permits issued in the thirty-four cities of the commonwealth was $5,323,286, as compared with $5,760,908 in August. There is encouragement, however, in the fact that the September figure is 3.1 per cent higher than that for September, 1920, when it was $5,119,757.

In Boston is centered considerably more than one-third of the September building activity, its figure for the month being $2,162,911, as compared with $1,552,411 in August. This gain of nearly $600,000 shows that the city of the state, in order to return a net deficit of more than $100,000, must have shown a falling off of more than $1,300,000.

The greatest loss was in Chicopee, which dropped from $224,550 in August to $165,205 in September. Comparative figures for other leading cities are:

	September	August
Brockton	$1,093,000	$1,279,700
Cambridge	1,000,000	1,000,000
Fall River	253,510	164,600
